MAYOR'S MINUTE

Thanksgiving just passed and one thing I am thankful for are crossing guards. They are unsung heroes in our public safety department. A dear friend of mine had her son die from an auto-pedestrian accident. What made it worse is this young boy was on his way home from buying flowers for his mom. I pray we never have another auto-pedestrian death in town. It is devastating for both parties.

Christmas is just around the corner and crossing guards have three wishes for Santa. Wish number one, slow down! Wish number two, get off your phone! Wish number three, red means stop!

I wanted to share the kudos I received from a citizen. "Shout out to this sweet Clinton City Crossing Guard. I don't know her name, but she brought a broom and while waiting for kids, swept up the area. We need more of her ability to see needs and do something about it, in all of us! Brandon Stanger, Clinton Mayor, she's a keeper!!"

I love the dedication of our crossing guards. Rain or snow, hot or cold they are at their posts. I feel peace knowing my boys can walk to school with someone looking out for their safety. I was surprised to learn that crossing guards are hired and paid by the police. The school district reimburses a portion of the cost but it is up to the city to operate the program.

We have a hawk in town and will have more flying overhead in the next few years. If you haven't seen it on 1800 North. It is a big black pole hanging over the road in front of West Clinton Elementary. It has yellow, red and flashing red lights. Hawks are "High intensity Activated crossWalks." I know that acronym is a stretch, but I didn't make it up. Yellow means slow down, the light is turning red. Solid red is the same as a red light! Flashing red is the same as a stop sign. Please look and then double look for pedestrians before proceeding.

We have been budgeting for and installing flashing signs at crosswalks throughout town. We will continue to make these a priority because of the added safety. If you notice them blinking in inclement weather with no one around please still proceed with caution. There was a problem with the manufacturer's push buttons and we are in the process of replacing those.

Last reminder, if someone is stopped in front of a crosswalk they are not likely turning left, please do not pass them on the right!

This Christmas let's be better together and help Santa with those three wishes.
